GRANGER FOREVERSAFE

BURIAL URNS

ForeverSafe is forever secure

Sadly, burial urns made of popular materials are being stolen from cemeteries by the thousands—simply for the value of the container. Metals like bronze, brass or copper, are sold for scrap. Expensive marble urns are resold intact to unscrupulous dealers.

Why not consider an urn that looks just like bronze or stone but is of no interest to thieves? ForeverSafe urns are made of tough polyethylene in a special molding process that replicates the look and texture of metals and stone with no seams or burrs. They blend in perfectly with nearby stone or metal urns, but thieves won't touch them.

Theft isn't the only problem. The looks and integrity of conventional materials also suffer from normal exposure to the elements. ForeverSafe products are impervious to surrounding conditions. They're as tough as steel, as beautiful as stone, but with an airtight/watertight seal that protects against flooding and other problems, indoors or out.

Families understandably associate an act of eternal love and commemoration with more expensive materials. But why pay extra for protection you don't get? After all, the true value of a container lies in protecting what's inside. Keep it ForeverSafe.
